Party advice

Maximum height limit for apparatus is 5ft.

Due to Health and Safety no more than 4 parents will be permitted to go up to the party rooms for the meal. This is the responsibility of the party host to arrange and notify the other parents prior to the party meal. This does not apply to Toddler parties when each child may be accompanied by one adult only. Please note we do require notification of large numbers of adults.

Adults cannot take food and drink upstairs so should try to eat prior to the party meal being served.

Only children who are in the party are allowed in the party room.

Parents provide their own Birthday Cake and candles. No Sparklers.

All timings in this brochure are approximate.

Dress

No jewellery should be worn by children playing on the apparatus.

Socks must be worn at all times.

We advise that long sleeves (no crop tops) and trousers are worn to avoid friction burns. Trousers must be worn for Wall parties.

We advise that smart or best wear is not suitable for the Chocolate Party due to the games involving chocolate in different ways that may cause mess.

Please Note

Whilst every effort has been made to ensure the children's optimum safety, Go Bananas cannot accept responsibility for accidents that occur as a result of playing on the apparatus.

It is the party host that is responsible for the children within their party and should take care to ensure that they are healthy and suitably attired to participate in the activities. They must also maintain a reasonable level of behaviour during the party and ensure that they are aware of the safety regulations.

Management reserve the right to alter any printed details without prior notification.
